

The Chastisement: Myth, Science and Mysticism Agree – What Happened Before Happens Again - Estimated Circa 2030

The vision of May 18, 2018 is one of many experiences I had of seeing the earth endure a great catastrophe. For many years, I experienced vivid dreams of the sun rising and setting in a new direction in which the sun rose and set over landmarks that previously were oriented in a north-south direction: 12 – 6 o'clock positions. In the dream, landmarks had changed and were now oriented in an east-west direction indicating the Earth's crust had rotated about 90°. Thus, the landmarks were now oriented in: 3-9 o'clock positions. As shown in the illustration.

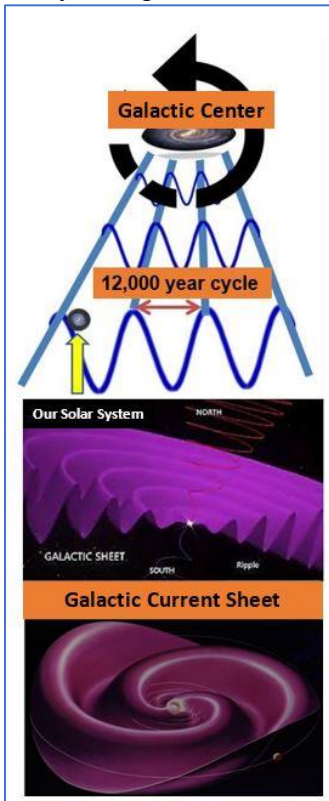

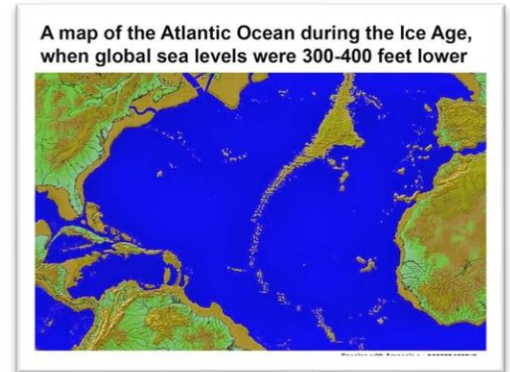

As a result of many years of research to understand the mechanics that could cause such a change to the crust of the Earth, some current scientific findings corroborated ancient myths of past catastrophes about instability of the Earth and disasters caused by the sun. Moreover, the current scientific findings also corroborated scripture and the visions and prophecies of Catholic mystics that warn the sun will again cause a catastrophic burning of the Earth unless humanity repents and turns toward God.

What Happened Before - Past Cataclysm

The oral mythologies of all nations tell of a worldwide flood in antiquity.

Scientific evidence and research confirm that global sea levels rose about 120 meters, 400 feet, at the end of the last ice age during a time known as the Younger Dryas period in circa 9700 BC, approximately 11,700 years ago. Based on extensive physical evidence, some scholars, such as Geologist Robert Schoch in his book “Forgotten Civilisations: New Discoveries on the Solar Induced Dark Age”, argues an intense solar outburst caused the warming that melted the ice caps.

What caused the intense solar outburst?

Ben Davidson in his book, “The Next End of the World: The Rebirth of Catastrophism” has integrated research from a range of authors and disciplines and cogently argues that the Earth has a 12,000 year ‘catastrophe cycle’.

The catastrophes occur when our solar system transits the crest of the Galactic Current Sheet - an area of dense electric currents and dense clouds of magnetised cosmic dust where the polarity of the galactic magnetic field reverses polarity from north to south. Davidson and other experts in plasma science argue that as the solar system enters the magnetised cosmic dust cloud the different electrical charges between the dust cloud and the sun’s heliosphere causes many changes in the sun. In addition, the sun flares in a micro-nova in order to shed excess electricity and other debris build up because of the movement through the dust cloud.

The crests of waves forming the Heliospheric Current Sheet and the larger Galactic Current Sheet occur at regular intervals. Every two weeks, the Earth passes through the Heliospheric Current Sheet, which is generated by our Sun. The Earth passes through the larger Galactic Current Sheet every 12,000 years, which is why the Earth experiences repeated cataclysms at approximately 12,000-year intervals. Large amounts of cosmic dust accumulate along the crests of the Galactic Current Sheet waves that spiral out from the galactic core.

Recurrent Catastrophes

This chart displays scientific evidence of past catastrophes on Earth caused by crossing through the Galactic Current Sheet approximately every 12,000 years.

| Years Ago | Magnetic Excursion | Ice Event | Extinctions |
|-----------|--------------------|---------------|-----------------|
| ~12,000 | Gothenburg | Younger Dryas | Global Disaster |
| ~24,000 | Lake Mungo | Heinrich 2 | Eurasia |
| ~35,000 | Mono Lake | Heinrich 4 | N.America |
| ~47,000 | Laschamp | Heinrich 5 | Global Disaster |
| ~60,000 | Vostok/Greenland | Heinrich 6 | Australia |
| ~72,000 | Toba | Heinrich 7a | Global Disaster |

Earth Entering the Dust Cloud Littered with Comic Debris.

This chart shows that the Earth has encountered increasing numbers of asteroids (rocky debris) for the last 25 years. This clearly shows that our solar system is entering more deeply into the magnetic cosmic dust cloud.

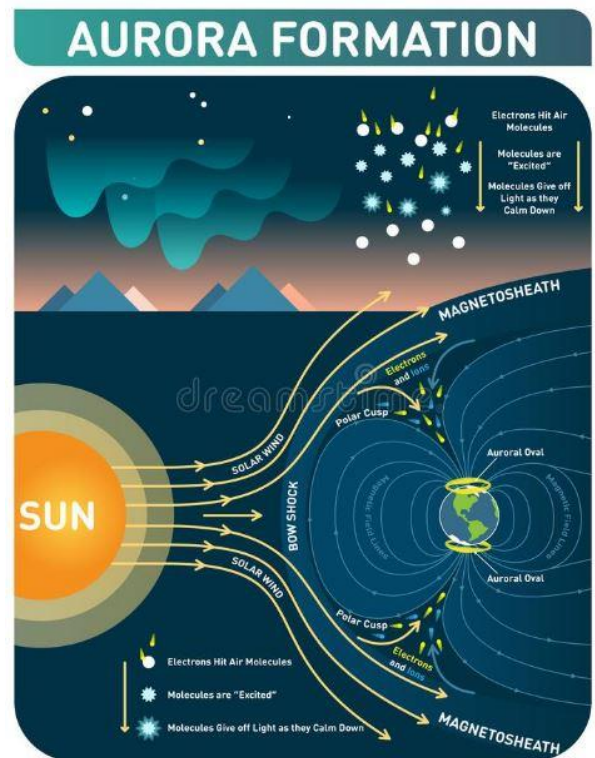

In addition, climatic changes are occurring on ALL the planets in the solar system, not just Earth, giving evidence of major disturbances in our entire solar system.

The Three Days of Darkness

Spinning Sun Warns of Micro-Nova. At Fatima the sun grew dim and spun for a total of 12 minutes: three times for approximately 4 minutes each, paused, resumed spinning and emitting multicoloured lights. The Sun then fell from the sky emitting great heat, drying the muddy ground and clothes of all 70K people. This symbolized the Three Days of Darkness, as prophesied by saints and mystics. All displays of the Miracle of the Sun warn of the Micronova.

Intense Auroras: As the sun enters the dust cloud it is obscured and its light grows dim. As the sun flares to equalize the different electrical charges, the Earth and other planets are bombarded with electrically charged particles (plasma) carried on very strong solar winds. The Earth's ionosphere begins to glow as a great aurora with intense multicoloured and blood red hues colouring the sky. The 'Moon turns to blood.' The charged particles create enormous electrical charges in the atmosphere causing huge lightning bolts to discharge downward from the sky to the Earth and upwards from the Earth to the sky. The intense electrical charges cause noxious clouds to form with various gases including hydrogen and oxygen which would combine explosively when triggered by electrical discharge.

As the solar system pushes deeper into the dust cloud, the sun reaches a culmination point where a major outburst or micro-nova occurs that blasts away the dust and equalises the different electrical potentials between the dust cloud and the sun. This intense solar outburst burns the side of the Earth facing the sun, evaporating large amounts of water, burning forests, causing vitrification of soil, and bombarding the Earth with cosmic debris of melted cosmic dust and rocky debris captured within the dust cloud which impact the Earth causing even more destruction.

Heaven has repeatedly warned humanity to repent, meaning that God the Father will not dissipate the magnetic field and dust clouds, but permit the burning of the Earth at the end of the age as a great chastisement for our sins.

- 2 Peter 3: 10-13: "But the day of the Lord will come like a thief. The heavens will disappear with a roar; the elements will be destroyed by fire, and the earth and everything in it will be laid bare. That day will bring about the destruction of the heavens by fire, and the elements will melt in the heat. But in keeping with his promise we are looking forward to a new heaven and a new earth, the home of righteousness."

Two-Thirds Perish because they do not respond. Ancient Scriptures and new prophecies repeatedly warn that 2/3rds of the human population will perish if they do not respond and repent.

- Scripture. (Written circa 520BC) Zechariah 13:8-9 "In the whole land," declares the LORD, "two-thirds will be struck down and perish; yet one-third will be left in it. "This third I will put into the fire; I will refine them like silver and test them like gold. They will call on my name and I will answer them; I will say, 'They are my people,' and they will say, 'The LORD is our God.'"
- December 31, 2020 to Irish mystic Christina Gallagher, the Lord spoke to Christina in a very stern voice. He said, "Woe, woe, woe unto the one who blocked My word to the heart and soul of mankind who might have responded to Me. Fire, pestilence, plague, famine and the third world war will rage upon the earth until two thirds (2/3rd) of the world's population is wiped out. Those who will remain living will envy the dead. The man from the east will be evil, cruel and show no mercy to the world's inhabitants."

Concerning the punishments that will fall on France. Prophecy of Father Constant Louis Marie PEL

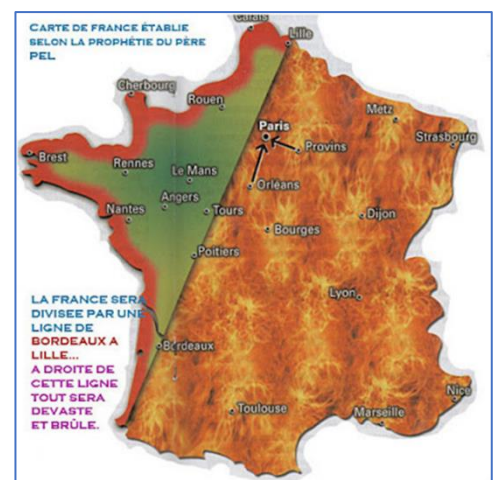

Father Constant Louis Marie PEL (1878 – 1966) Born in 1878 in Lantenay, a small village in Ain. He entered the age of the Minor Seminary where he made great progress in the spiritual life, under the direction of Father Crozier, the "Saint of Lyon", mystical priest and invisibly stigmatized (Father Pel will inherit, among other things, the chalice of this great Saint, with whom he will celebrate all his life the Holy Mass.)

A religious, seminarian, confidant and spiritual son of Father Pel, wrote a book in the years 1983-1984 about his dear and venerable Father Pel. He relates in particular this prophecy made by the holy priest concerning the punishments that must strike France.

"So in 1945, my good father Pel declared to me on behalf of God: "My son," he told me, "know that the sins of the world going crescendo in horror during this century, very great divine punishments will melt on the world and no continent will be spared by the wrath of God.

France guilty of Apostasy and denying its vocation will be harshly punished. It will be divided as a line from Bordeaux to Lille. To the right of this line everything will be devastated and burned by the invasion of peoples from the East and also by large flaming meteorites falling in rain of fire on the whole earth and on these regions in particular.

It will be the general desolation: revolution, war, epidemics, plagues and others, toxic and chemical gases, violent earthquakes. The extinct volcanoes of France will rekindle, destroying everything: Auvergne, Alps, Pyrenees and other places. While the left part of the line will be less affected (Vendée, Brittany, because of the Faith still rooted in these regions), but nevertheless it will be necessary to move far from the coasts, sometimes even up to 50 km, to escape their engulfment at the bottom of the seas, such as Marseille and the Côte d'Azur which will be swallowed up because of the sins committed and scandals on the beaches of these regions in particular. But I must tell you my child, that the sectarians and great enemies of God who will want to take refuge there, believing they are escaping this world cataclysm, will be put to death by the demons themselves, wherever they may hide, for the wrath of the Lord is just and holy.

Thick darkness caused by war, gigantic fires and the fall of the pieces of flaming stars that will fall for three days and three nights will make the sun disappear, and only the candles of Candlemas, blessed on this occasion, will be able to give light in the hands of believers, but the ungodly will not see this miraculous light because they have their souls in darkness.

So, my child, 3/4 of humanity will be destroyed and in places in France, it will take a hundred kilometres to find his fellow man. We will come to eat human flesh to survive. Several nations will disappear from the map of the world. France will be very small, but it will survive in part until the end of time. For she will become again, thus purified, the renewed "Eldest Daughter of the Church"; for all the Cain and Judas of mankind will have disappeared in this "Judgment of the Nations", but not yet the end times that will have to take place later.

The Mediterranean Sea will disappear completely, the oceans will launch huge jets of burning steam towards the sky and sweep the continents into a terrible tidal wave wiping out everything in its path, while new mountains will rise from the oceans and land, while the Alps and the Rhine Valley to the north will collapse invaded by the sea.

Thus, the map of the world will be totally changed, the earth will have great tremors that will prevent it from turning on itself normally. The seasons will no longer exist three years before the earth restores grasses and vegetation. Great famine all over the world. Paris will be destroyed by the Revolution and burned by atomic fire from the Russians from Orleans and the region of Provins. While Marseille and the Côte d'Azur will collapse into the sea.

More than 3 billion human beings will disappear in a global turmoil and Jesus said that there would be no more such great desolation, even at the end of the world, so great will be the punishment due to the sins of the world.

We begin, my child, he told me (in 1945), to enter the time of the Apocalypse seen by St. John, the beloved apostle of Jesus.

Later, when you see that this dreaded time is near, then go to Brittany to retreat, but towards the center away from the coasts that will collapse.

For this world plague will begin with a cold winter night and a terrible rumble of divine thunder will be heard from all over the world, and this divine thunderclap will have an abnormal sound, filled with demonic cries; it will be the voice of sin that frightened men will hear that night.

Solar Outburst Causes Displacement of Earth's Crust.

- Davidson estimates the next solar outburst occurs within 10 - 30 years: 2030 – 2050 AD.-

Davidson's research and other geological findings confirm that the solar outburst also affects the mantle of the Earth. The Earth's mantle or crust rides on top of a 'low velocity zone' of the liquid magma that locks the crust in place through friction and electromagnetic binding. The solar outburst (Micro-Nova) disrupts the electromagnetic binding of the crust and reduces friction in the liquid mantle by changing the viscosity of the liquid volcanic magma. As a result, the crust of the Earth is 'unlocked' and glides over the mantle, sliding over between approximately 45° - 90° clockwise as shown in the earlier graphic.

The Disaster Unfolding...

1. Changes on Planets, Stars and Sun 1859-Now
2. Solar Killshot (Technological) 2020s/2030s
3. Weather, Animals, The Solar Red & Black 2030s
4. Solar Micronova Event 2030s/2040s
5. Shell Impact, Arc Discharge Within Hours
6. Whole-Planet Electrical Insult Within Minutes
7. Earth Turns Over, Impactors, Cold
 - Begins Immediately
 - Lasts Days/Weeks

Davidson argues that the current geologic and climatic upheavals are caused by the solar system entering the cosmic dust cloud.

Globalist authorities are aware of the solar system entering the dust cloud and the changes on other planets. Globalists force governments to intentionally mislead people by claiming 'climate change' is caused by pollution and CO2 emissions.

See videos saved on the memory stick.

The videos, papers and books explain this process in much more detail, including Davidson's and Schoch's books.

Kingdom of the Divine Will Emerges After the Earth Rolls Over: 2033 (Estimated)

The triumph of the Immaculate Heart of Mary will end this spiritual war and usher in the Kingdom of the Divine Will on Earth. To end this war each person must be a Child of Mary and crush the head of Satan within themselves. During the second Pentecost, each person must surrender their human will and unite with the Divine Will giving their individual 'fiat'. Thus, they will recapitulate Mary's "Fiat mihi secundum verbum tuum" given at the Annunciation and Christ's "fiat voluntas tua" given in the Garden of Gethsemane, opening the pathway to the Kingdom of the Divine Will on Earth.

The spiritual Kingdom of the Divine Will is possessed in the soul and enables the soul to achieve the fullness of Redemption by returning to that happy and glorious, Original State of Adam and Eve—the state in which God initiated the human race to fulfil his purpose for the Creation of Mankind.

Entries from the diary of Luisa Piccarreta

The present generation deserves to be completely destroyed. November 27, 1917 "Alas, My daughter, the present generation deserves to be completely destroyed. Moreover, if I permit that a few remain of it, it is to form these Suns of the Sanctity of the living in My Will, who, by My example, will redo [recapitulate] all that the other creatures, past, present, and future, owed Me. Then the earth will give Me true glory, and My Fiat Voluntas Tua, 'as in Heaven so on earth,' will have completion and fulfilment."

Third Renewal of humanity by Imminent. January 29, 1919, "My beloved daughter, I want to let you know the order of My Providence. Every two thousand years I have renewed the world. In the first two thousand years I renewed it with the Deluge (Black Sea flood circa 4,000 BC); in the second two thousand I renewed it with My coming upon earth when I manifested My Humanity, from which, as if from many fissures, My Divinity shone forth. The good ones and the very Saints of the following two thousand years have lived from the fruits of My Humanity and, in drops, they have enjoyed My Divinity."

"Now we are around the third two thousand years, and there shall be a third renewal. This is the reason for the (current) general confusion: it is nothing other than the preparation of the third renewal. If in the second renewal I manifested what My Humanity did and suffered, and very little of what My Divinity was operating, now, in this third renewal, after the earth will be purged and a great part of the current generation destroyed, I shall be even more generous with creatures, and I shall accomplish the renewal by manifesting what My Divinity did within My Humanity"

Remembering Mankind's Forgotten Past

May 13, 2021-Feast of Our Lady of Fatima

And said: Amen I say to you, unless you be converted, and become as little children, you shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. Matt 18:3

The human mind is naturally incredulous at the foretelling of such enormous disasters. Questions naturally arise: Has anything so catastrophic actually occurred in the past? What do we really know scientifically about the Earth's past and the Great Flood?

Our Lady to Gisella Cardia on July 3rd, 2022:

Dear children who are precious to my heart and to that of Jesus, thank you for being here in prayer and for having bent your knees. I look at these little ones in prayer, and how I wish that you, too, were like them with pure hearts! Remember what Jesus said: the little ones will enter my Kingdom. My children, I beseech you, it will be worse than the universal flood if you do not convert. I do not want to instill fear into you but to warn you: return to God with your hands clasped [in prayer], bending your knees and with your heart and soul turned to the only Savior, in order to live eternity in heaven. Children, there will be earthquakes, droughts and storms. Evil and the evil one have entered the Church, and my Son is no longer there.[1] Look around you, for you will no longer recognize your brothers and sisters. I ask you for prayers, fasting, and fraternal love. Now I bless you, in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit amen. Many graces will descend on you today. Testify! (cttk.org)

There is very much that man has forgotten about the Earth's past, the Great Flood of Noah and humanity's own activities because the physical orbits of the planets in our solar system has changed drastically. With the change in planetary orbits, man's consciousness changed equally radically. All the events described below are the consequences of the fall: a metaphorical shift in consciousness from the vertical spiritual focus on God to the horizontal material consciousness of the serpent. Like a very tall giant redwood tree falling to Earth takes time, the fall continued over hundreds of thousands of years. Each succeeding generation experienced diminished spiritual sight and communication with 'the gods', the angelic hierarchies who guided ancient man: our individual and collective guardian angels. Eventually, humanity's spiritual sight was lost entirely. When man was completely spiritually blind, the Messiah came to rescue mankind, restore spiritual sight by reuniting the vertical and the horizontal through His crucifixion on the cross.

Christ was crucified at the intersection of the vertical and the horizontal. If you read the following pages with curiosity & open-mindedness, you will understand: what happened long ago, the great consequences of sin, how Christ came to restore what we lost and the great price Jesus paid by his crucifixion to reunite the vertical spiritual world with the horizontal material world.

After getting injured in 1987, I departed the army and returned to school for retraining to be a teacher of young children ages 7-14 (1992-1998). Teaching young children, especially reading fairy tales, revitalized my thinking in ways that I did not recognize or understand until decades later. I learned once again to see through the eyes of a child, to see behaviour patterns of characters in stories, anticipate plot lines and motives of characters. I also became less attached to earthly things as I learned to recognise truth, beauty, and goodness as well as evil, cunning and lies. I also began reading books from mystics. I noticed the same descriptions of moral truths conveyed in the fairy tales were also expressed in the writings of the mystics, suggesting that ancient peoples beheld spiritual truths in the same manner that mystics beheld spiritual truth. Years later, I was shown that ancient people had spiritual sight just like the mystics. Today it is called clairvoyance. Subsequent research about the psychological development of consciousness confirmed that humanity once had spiritual sight but we lost it because of the fall.

As I researched the ancient origins of humanity a story emerged that corroborated the story in Genesis and explained how we lost this spiritual sight and a tribal, collective consciousness but developed an individual ego identity: "I am" and abstract critical thinking. The same message Moses received at the burning bush: "I am the I am" = "I am who am" = "I am that I am"

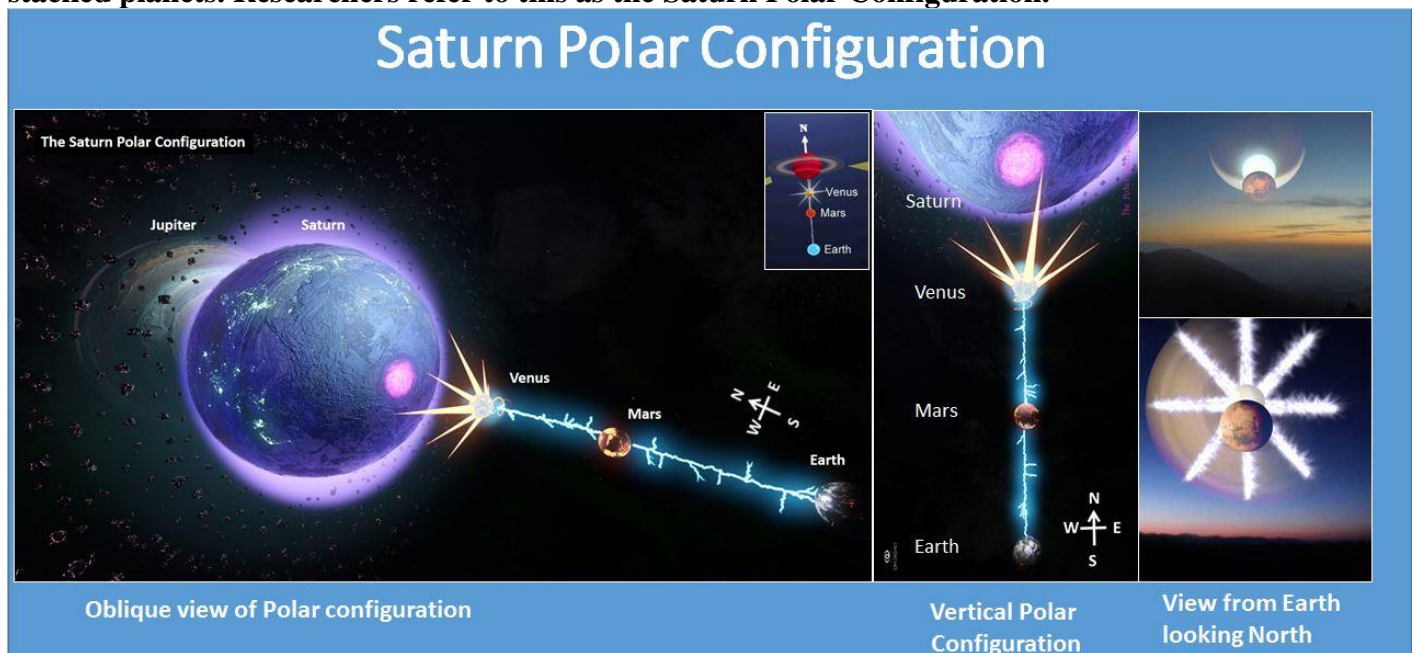

Myths are Anthropomorphised History

The quote below describes the antediluvian time of Norse Myths in remote antiquity when humanity was clairvoyant, had a collective or tribal mind-set and consciousness, which is much different from our current individual ego-centric consciousness with its abstract thinking. These myths were memorised and passed on orally for thousands of years.

The ideas expressed in the passage below indicate that long ago the Earth was positioned in a different orbital pattern around a different sun and had a different moon. An enormous catastrophe occurred and the Earth's orbit changed, resulting in great destruction from winds, extended snowfall, intense fires, famine and war. The quote mixes two different catastrophes that occurred thousands of years apart: circa 9,500 BC and 3,100 BC.

Over the years, many different researchers studying mythology, plasma physics, astronomy, geology and archaeology and have concluded the stories portray planetary orbits and configurations in our solar system which are different than today. Collectively the scientific evidence corroborates the stories in Norse & other Mythologies and demonstrates that long ago the Earth was in a strange configuration of vertically stacked planets. Researchers refer to this as the Saturn Polar Configuration.

Herbig – Haro Objects = Nascent Solar Systems

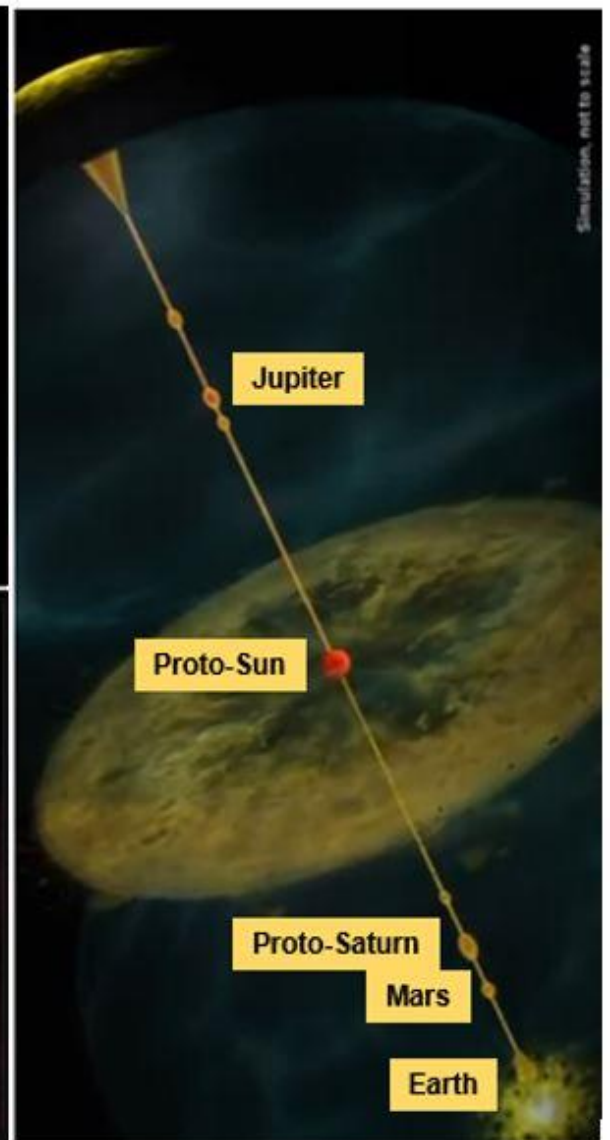

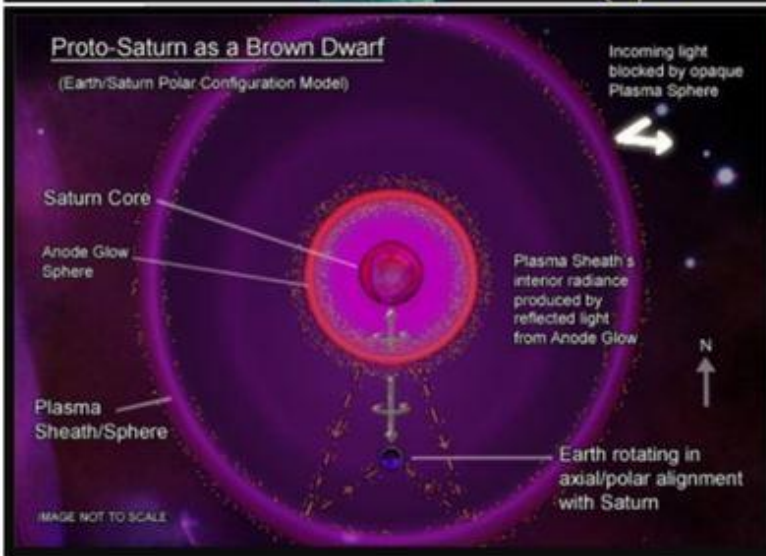

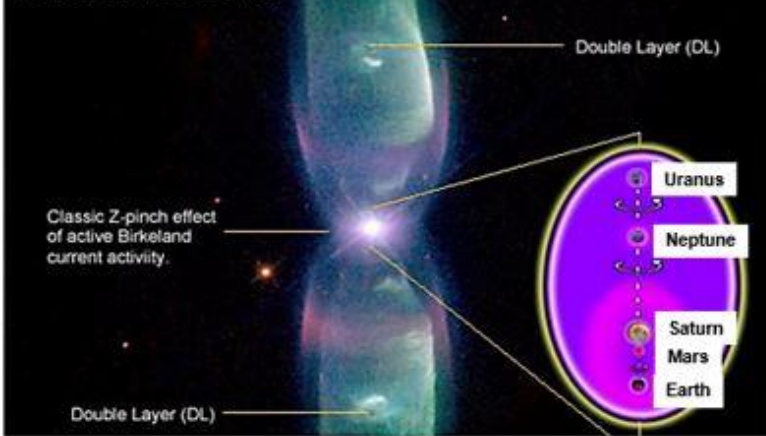

The Accretion theory of Solar System formation is rejected because of serious flaws. In that theory, the Sun passes through dense interstellar dust clouds and emerges surrounded by a dusty, gaseous envelope. The problem is that of getting the cloud to form the planets. According to the theory, the terrestrial (rocky) planets can form in a reasonable time, but the gaseous planets (Saturn & Jupiter) would take far too long to form. Therefore, this theoretical model of Solar System formation is rejected.

An alternate theory posits that mega-amp electric currents, cosmic electric currents called Birkeland Currents, interact in a 'Z-Pinch' to form terrestrial & Gaseous planets along a vertical axial arrangement called a 'Herbig-Haro' object. Magnetism is 40 orders of magnitude stronger than gravity and is the force that shapes galaxies and solar systems

Originally, our solar system formed in a vertical 'stack' along a plasma Z-Pinch that swirled around our sun. At this time, proto-Saturn was a Brown Dwarf Star. Mars and Earth were axially aligned below Saturn and were linked via strong plasma streams called Birkeland Currents and were contained within Saturn's plasmasphere. Thus, Saturn was the 'First Sun'.

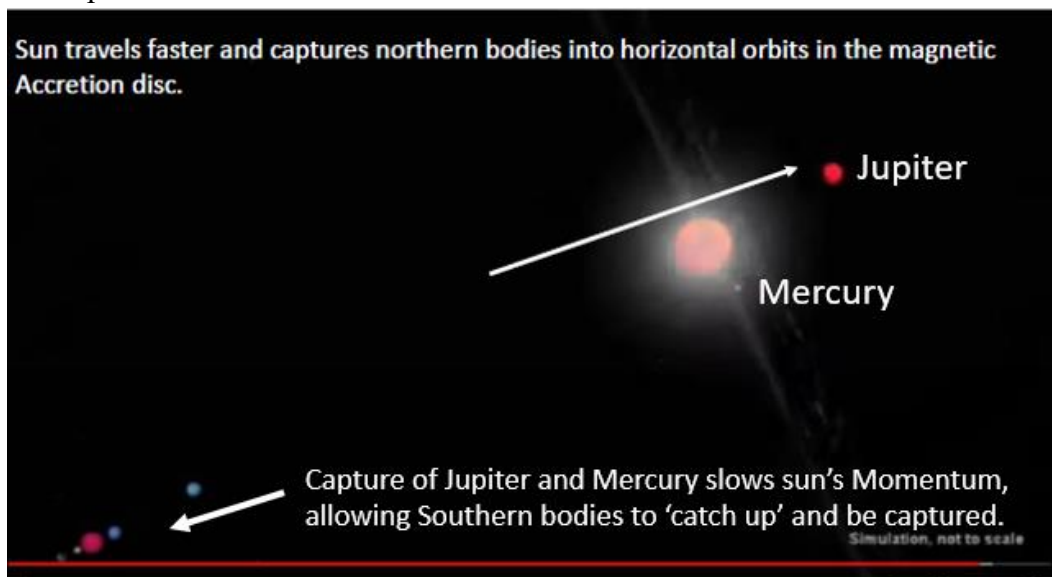

How a lone free-floating Saturn planetary nebula might have looked as it spiralled northwards through space. The famous Butterfly Nebula has been used as an illustrative reference.

Early Solar System formed as Herbig-Haro Object
Vertical axial rotation around Proto-Sun

Once the Birkeland Current breaks, all bodies are electrically severed and become independent. They maintain course & trajectory. Sun accelerates along northern course and first captures northern bodies into horizontal orbits. Capture of Jupiter and Mercury slows sun's Momentum, allowing Southern bodies to 'catch up' and be captured.

As the Southern bodies approached the Sun, the early solar system was also transiting the Galactic Current Sheet, as described by Ben Davidson. Saturn ejected Venus to equalize its electric charge with surrounding space. Venus was ejected out of Saturn circa 10.9K –9.5k BC or 12,900 –10,500 years ago and was recorded in anthropomorphized myths & legends handed down from antiquity, as the great flood when ice caps melted from a solar Micro-Nova causing sea levels to rise about 400 feet. (Base image by Troy D. McLaclan)

The vertical axial alignment of Venus, Mars & Earth below Saturn existed until circa 4000 - 3100 B.C when Earth and other planets were captured into horizontal orbit around our sun. See 'Children of Odin' by Padraic Colum, 1920, a retelling of the Norse sagas during an age before the present Sun & Moon.

Ancient tribes created myths to explain what they saw and carved the images on rocks, petroglyphs, portraying the appearance of plasma streams stretching between planets as seen from Earth. Thunderbolts Project - 'Electric Universe Theory'

Moreover, plasma scientists demonstrated how the petroglyph patterns match electric plasma discharge patterns in the laboratory between positive (anode) and negative (cathode) terminals. The implications of the findings imply that planets, in close proximity to the Earth, served as the anode and cathode terminals and that electric plasma streams stretched between the planets. Ancient peoples' carved into rocks the shapes and patterns observed in the heavens.

- David Talbott, Symbols of an Alien Sky
- Wallace Thornhill, Chief Science Advisor at Thunderbolts Group, thunderbolts.info
- Anthony L. Peratt, Fellow IEEE, Characteristics for the Occurrence of a High-Current, Z-Pinch Aurora as Recorded in Antiquity, Transactions on Plasma Science, VOL. 31, December 2003)
- Ev Cochran - maverick science.com
- Jno Cook, "Recovering the Lost World", saturniancosmology.org
- Julian West, mythsarehistory.com

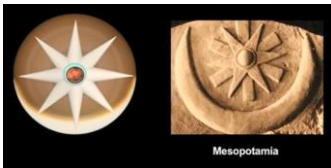

Timekeeping

Petroglyph from Kuwait showing the illumination of the side of Saturn during different times of day. See reconstruction below

| Morning | Noon | Sunset | Midnight |
|---------|------|--------|----------|
| | | | |
| | | | |

"The Children of Odin", By Padraic Colum, 1920
Ragnarök, the Twilight of the Gods

ONCE there was another Sun and another Moon a different Sun and a different Moon from the ones we see now. Sol (Saturn) was the name of that Sun and Mani (Mars) was the name of that Moon. But always behind Sol and Mani wolves went, a wolf behind each. The wolves caught on them at last and they devoured Sol and Mani. And then the world was in darkness and cold.

In those times the Gods lived*, Odin and Thor, Hodur and Baldur, and Heimdall, Vidar and Vali, as well as Loki, the doer of good and the doer of evil. And the beautiful Goddesses were living then, Frigga, Freya, Nanna, Iduna, and Sif. But in the days when the Sun and Moon were destroyed the Gods were destroyed too — all the Gods except Baldur who had died before that time, Vidar and Vali, the sons of Odin, and Modi and Magni, the sons of Thor. *[Meaning: Angelic hierarchies had communication with humanity and guided ancient peoples. Similar to Doctor of the Church St. Hildegard of Bingen receiving insights from the heavenly realms and making incredible contributions to science, theology, music, poetry. When the planets departed, communication with the angelic hierarchies (gods) also ended.]

At that time, too, there were men and women in the world. But before the Sun and the Moon were devoured and before the Gods were destroyed, terrible things happened in the world. Snow fell on the four corners of the earth and kept on falling for three seasons. Winds came and blew everything away. And the people of the world who had lived on in spite of the snow and the cold and the winds fought each other, brother killing brother, until all the people were destroyed.

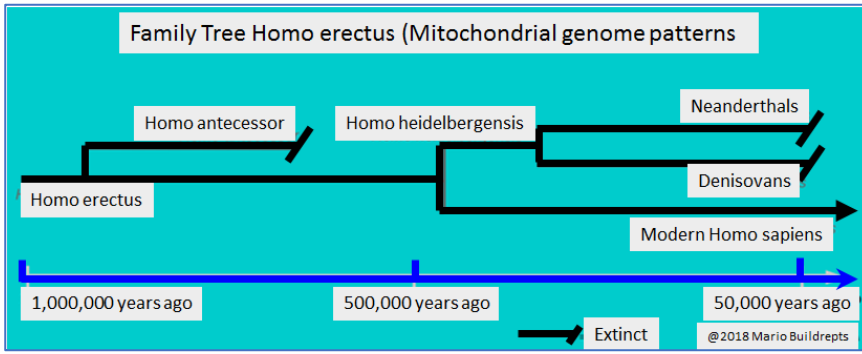

Also, there was another earth at that time, an earth green and beautiful. But the terrible winds that blew levelled down forests and hills and dwellings. Then fire came and burnt the earth. There was darkness, for the Sun and the Moon were devoured. The Gods had met with their doom. And the time in which all these things happened was called Ragnarök, the Twilight of the Gods.

Then a new Sun and a new Moon appeared and went travelling through the heavens*; they were more lovely than Sol and Mani, and no wolves followed behind them in chase. *[Meaning our planet changed its orbit to revolve around our current sun and the moon was captured into Earth's orbit.] The earth became green and beautiful again, and in a deep forest that the fire had not burnt a woman and a man wakened up. They had been hidden there by Odin and left to sleep during Ragnarök, the Twilight of the Gods.

Lif was the woman's name, and Lifthrasir was the man's. They moved through the world, and their children and their children's children made people for the new earth. And of the Gods were left Vidar and Vali, the sons of Odin, and Modi and Magiii, the sons of Thor; on the new earth Vidar and Vali found tablets that the older Gods had written on and had left there for them, tablets telling of all that had happened before Ragnarök, the Twilight of the Gods.

And the people who lived after Ragnarök, the Twilight of the Gods, were not troubled, as the people in the older days were troubled, by the terrible beings who had brought destruction upon the world and upon men and women, and who from the beginning had waged war upon the Gods.

How long have modern humans lived on the Earth?

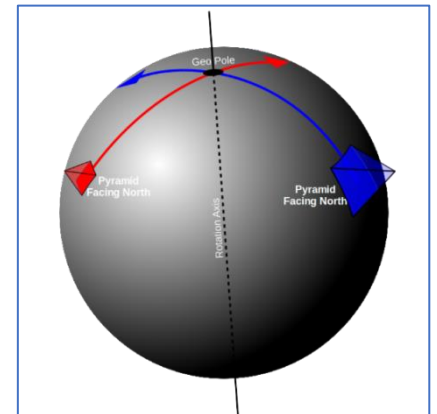

This chart indicates Modern Homo Sapiens have lived on Earth for the past 500,000 years. An engineer, Mario Buildrepts, developed an innovative mathematical analytic method to prove with a high degree of probability that humans have lived on Earth and build megalithic structures for the past 500,000 years. Some believe the brutal humans science calls Neanderthals & Denisovans are the same humans scripture refers to as Cain. Scripture refers to another species, Abel, who was pleasing to God and it seems science refers to this species as ‘Early Modern Humans’, formerly known as Cro-Magnon man. Cro-Magnon people built the ancient megaliths.

Buildrept writes, “We are now able to prove the age of pyramids and other such structures solely by their orientation. How is this research done? By mass-processing the orientation and location of ancient buildings, we were able to determine the rough time frames in which specific structures are built. The correlation between orientation and age has profound importance. We find the geodetic intersection point of the orientation of cardinally oriented structures on opposite sides of the Earth.”

“The intersection points of the orientation of these two structures, both facing North (cardinally oriented), is on the current geographic North pole. They belong to the same contemporary time frame. We have performed massive data research of more than 1,100 of these ancient monuments and what we have found has stunned even the most seasoned sceptics.” (mariobuildrepts.com)

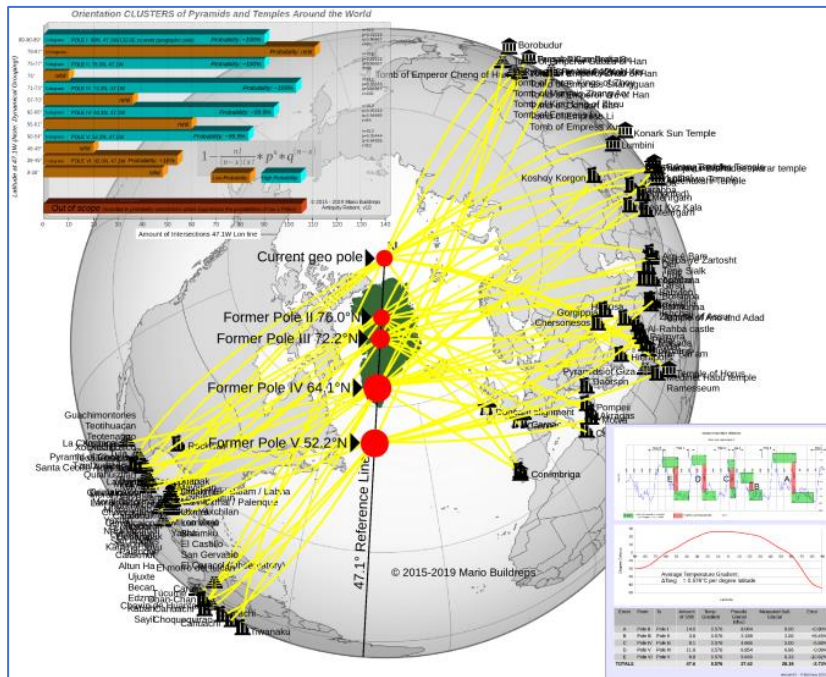

Buildrepts’ mass data analysis of 1,100 megalithic structures worldwide reveals the orientation of the foundations of cardinally oriented megalithic structures point to 5 different geographic poles. The 5 different poles or axes of rotation, shown by the red dots in the map below, suggest the crust of the Earth has displaced in a clockwise direction several times over the past 500,000 years. Further research confirmed that the distance between the poles correlates precisely with known ice ages, which extend back at least 400,000 years. These findings conclusively prove humanity has repeatedly constructed advanced civilizations over the past 500 millennia!

Where did humans learn such complex skills and mathematics?

How did humans forget such incredible accomplishments and regress so drastically taking thousands of years to re-acquire similar skills and knowledge?

The Time Frame & Shortlist of Ancient Structures

| Pole | Pyramids, Sites, Temples |
|----------------------------------|--|
| I: 0 – 26,000 years ago | Borobudur, Konark Sun Temple, Temple of Horus, Pyramids of Giza, Tomb of Emperor Ping of Han |
| 26,000 – 130,000 | Period of crustal deformation: Pole II to Pole I |
| II: 130,000 – 155,000 years ago | Babylon, Prasat Phum Prasat, Uxmal (Pyramid of the magician), El Mirador, Ka'ba-ye Zartosht |
| 155,000 – 210,000 | Period of crustal deformation: Pole III to Pole II |
| III: 210,000 – 225,000 years ago | Teotihuacan, Pompeii (temples), Carnac, Edzna, Tomb of Emperor Zhao of Han, Antipatris |
| 225,000 – 240,000 | Period of crustal deformation: Pole IV to Pole III |
| IV: 240,000 – 270,000 years ago | Yagul, Kuara (Sumer), Great Kyz Kala, El Castillo (Chichen Itza), Pyramid of Koh-Ker |
| 270,000 – 330,000 | Period of crustal deformation: Pole V to Pole IV |
| V: 330,000 – 345,000 years ago | Tomb of Three Kings of Zhou, Der (Sumer), Nohoch Mul pyramid (Cobá), Caral, Madinet Habu temple, Borsippa (Sumer) |
| 345,000 – 410,000 | Period of crustal deformation: Pole VI to Pole V |
| VI: 410,000 – 440,000 years ago | Nineveh (Sumer), Sippar (Sumer), Eridu (Sumer), Pyramids of Cochasqui (No. 5, 9, 14), Huaca del Sol, Zabala (Sumer), Caral |

Birth of Venus circa 10,000 BC Destroyed an Advanced Civilisation

Myths and legends state that at one time Venus appeared to ancient man as a comet in the skies. Venus came very close to the Earth and destroyed an ancient advanced civilization. (Velikovsky, Worlds in Collision) The legends convey the idea Venus was seen and described as a fire breathing dragon that destroyed civilization.

What caused Saturn to explode and eject Venus? When was Venus ejected from Saturn?

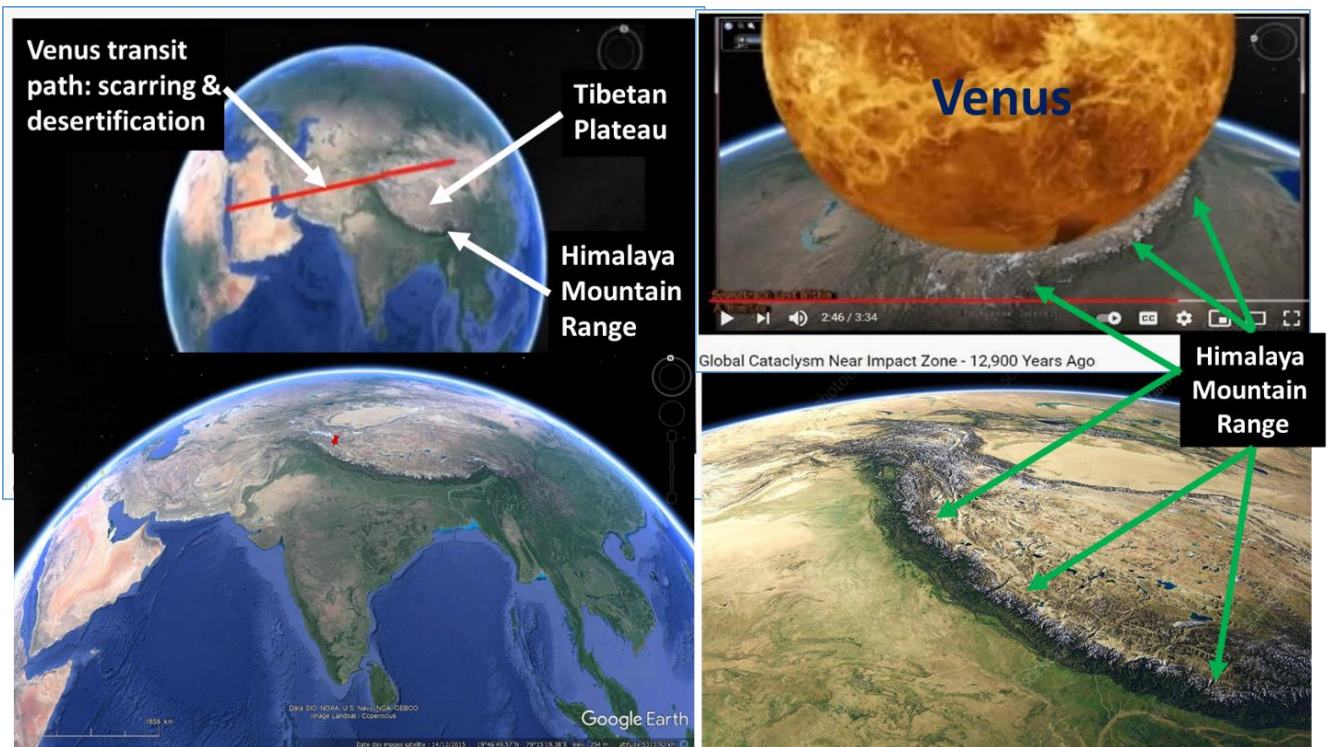

Venus ejected from Saturn circa 12,900 – 11,500 years ago, (10,900 BC – 9,500 BC) - Extrapolating from Ben Davidson’s findings [described later] and other researchers, a plausible explanation follows.

Approximately 12,000 years ago, the Brown Dwarf star ‘proto-Saturn’ with its stack of satellites was within the heliosphere our sun when the sun transited the crest in the Galactic Current Sheet which triggered a micronova of our sun. As a result of the immense energies & debris emitted by our sun--as solar flares & and impactors such as superheated glass formed from melted cosmic dust--Saturn became energised and ejected the planet Venus in order to stabilise and balance the different electrical potentials in its core and the surrounding space.

Once Venus was ejected, it travelled close to the Earth emitting great heat and causing enormous destruction, which ancient man described as a ‘fire breathing dragon’’. Later Venus stabilised in an orbit closer to the Saturn. When the Polar Configuration broke up circa 4,000 – 3,000 BC Venus again made several close approaches to the Earth (circa 1500BC) and appeared to emit lighting as its fiery breath.

Wallace Thornhill, an Australian researcher and science director of the Thunderbolts Project, summarises these ideas.

- “Assigning times to these events is a subject practically no one wants to address. Why exactly that is I cannot say. It perplexes me to no end because nothing is more important than knowing when Proto-Saturn exploded... I vigorously maintain that these two events must be tied to the two dates 9500 BC and 3100 BC that loom so large in our solar system’s past. The fact is that the birth of Venus was in 9500 BC when the Earth was still in close proximity to Proto-Saturn, which is what brought an untimely end to a civilization far in advance of our own. These people, who were the giants, had a worldwide culture the only remaining evidence for which is the polygonal, megalithic structures whose sophistication we still cannot fathom.”

The great heat of Venus' transit also left an enormous scar on the Eurasian plateau. Rocks melted and were pushed into a crescent shape that formed the Himalaya Mountain Range, according to one researcher Robert Burke ("Part 1 Global Cataclysm Near Impact Zone - 12,900 Years Ago"; and Part 2 Cataclysm 12,900 Years Ago - The Rebound) Venus' close approach to Earth passed over the pyramids in Egypt, causing vitrification of soil on the Giza Plateau and blasting the casing stones off the sides.

Origin of the Moon within Timeframe of Human Memory

Circa 12,900 - 11,500 years ago when the planets were vertically stacked, our Sun burst into a Micronova while crossing the Galactic Current Sheet. The Sun emitted intense electromagnetic energies, which showered Saturn as it was below the Sun.

(LaViolette, Paul A. 2011. "Evidence for a Solar Flare Cause of the Pleistocene Mass Extinction." Radiocarbon 53 (2): 303—23. <https://doi.org/10.1017/033822200056575>.)

(<https://www.ancient-origins.net/opinion-guest-authors/ganymede-hypothesis-part-1-original-double-solar-system-00587>)

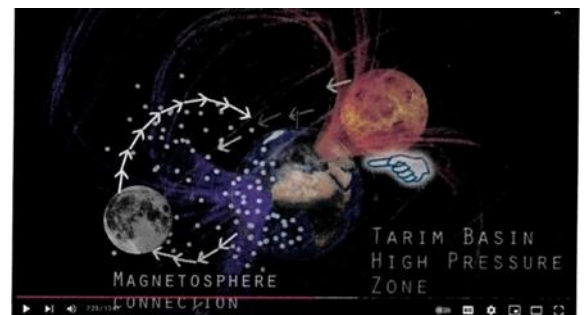

To balance the increased inflow of electrical energy, Saturn ejected or extruded a part of its core, which formed the planet Venus, as shown above.

Before settling into a stable orbit, Venus passed close to the Earth almost colliding at the Tarim Basin before being repelled by the magnetosphere of the Earth. (A) The inflow of intense heat and electromagnetic energy caused the Earth to eject or extrude part of its core to stabilize the electrical charge coming from Venus' close approach. The extruded crust of the Earth came from what is now called the ring of fire. The extruded crust formed the Moon, which rapidly cooled as it exited the Earth's atmosphere into the super cooled vacuum of space. (B,C)

(Sources: A. Burke, Robert. "Cataclysm 26: Archimedes and the Moon Walk into a Bar." www.youtube.com, 2 Feb. 2022)

B. Tavares, F. (2022) Collision may have formed the moon in mere hours, simulations reveal, NASA. NASA. Available at: <https://www.nasa.gov/feature/ames/lunar-origins-simulations> (Accessed: March 16, 2023).

C. Whitlock, Dr. Laura A. "Where Did the Moon Come from?" NASA, NASA, Oct. 2001, <https://starchild.gsfc.nasa.gov/docs/StarChild/questions/question38.html>.)

Astronomers still do not understand the origin of the Moon.

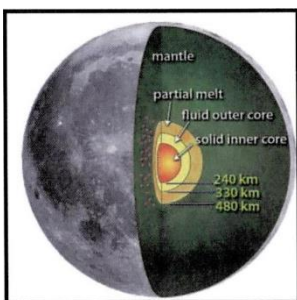

Because Astrophysicists still incorrectly maintain that gravity, not magnetism, is the predominant force in the universe. Astrophysicists overlook the more powerful force of electromagnetism in the formation of planetary bodies and cosmic interactions.

The Fission Theory of the Moon's origin posits the Moon formed millions of years ago when molten material was ejected from the cooling Earth. (Whitlock 2001) Several problems with this theory cause it to be rejected: the rotation speed of the Earth was not fast enough to eject the material, there is not a solid iron core within the Moon, the theory does not explain the force or energy needed to eject the material, nor does it explain the 'baking' phenomena found on the Moon's surface rocks. According to an October 2022 NASA report of a supercomputer model, the Moon could have formed in hours. (Tavares, F. (2022) The scenario is based on the Collision theory with the event occurring millions of years ago.

Nonetheless, a Modified Fission Theory resolves these flaws and shows the Moon did indeed form within hours. The Modified Fission Theory posits that the Moon was ejected from the Earth approximately 11,000 — 13,000 years ago by the electromagnetic force of Venus' close approach to Earth as the 'antique vertical solar system' transited the Galactic Current Sheet. The ejection of the Moon from Earth's core was the last in a series of cascading cataclysms.

A Modified Fission Theory

- a. Antique Vertical Solar System transits Galactic Current Sheet approximately 11,000 — 13,000 years ago (Ted Holden, Ganymede Hypothesis, 2023)
- b. The Sun undergoes a Micronova expelling enormous solar flares. (LaViolette, 2011)
- c. Saturn ejects Venus from its core to stabilize the intense electrical imbalances caused by Micronova. (Holden)
- d. Venus passes close to the Earth near the Tarim Basin causing the Earth, in turn, to expel the Moon from the core and crust of the Earth. (Robert Burke)
- e. The Moon rapidly cools and forms in hours, stabilizing its orbit around the Earth. (Tavares, 2022)
- f. The proximity of a superheated Venus and subsequent solar flares from the Sun caused the 'baking' or hot vitrification detected on rocks on the Moon's surface. (T. Gold, Apollo 11 observations of a remarkable glazing phenomenon on the lunar surface, Science. 1969 Sep 26;165(3900):1345-9. doi: 10.1126/science.165.3900.1345.

The rapid cooling of the extruded material apparently created a solid crust, a less dense mantle and a solid inner core. Such that the acoustic properties of the Moon suggest the Moon's interior mantle is less dense or softer. According to seismographs taken in 1960s & 1970s, the Moon 'rang like a bell' for some hours after different impactor experiments. ("The Unexplained: Apollo 12 Uncovers a Hollow Moon (Season 2) | History." YouTube. YouTube, April 11, 2021.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=U6bQh1EU5n0>.)

An impactor, Asteroid or Meteor, of sufficient mass and velocity could pierce the crust of the Moon and cause the Moon to fragment into several large pieces.

Three Proofs of Validity for Venus Apocalypse: Theoretical, Historical, Physical

If $A = B$ and $B = C$, then $A = C$.

1. Theoretical. Venus and the Moon have similar synchronous orbits in relation to the Earth indicating orbits of Venus and the Moon are linked somehow, according to Robert Burke. This hypothesis, $A=B$, and $B=C$, then $A=C$, suggests that when Venus made its close approach to the Earth, the Moon was ejected from the side of the Earth forming the Ring of Fire.

Source: https://drive.google.com/file/d/1KfV5rMUeUAnCb9figBBwqyuK4AagQ6X_/view

In 1964, it was first discovered that Venus had a synchronous orbit with the earth, showing the nearly identical surface face in each rotation. Therefore, $A=B$. The orbit of Venus and the earth are linked.

(Rotation Rate of Venus measured by Radar Observations, 1964 <https://www.nature.com/articles/204063a0>)

Since great antiquity, the predictable and synchronous cycles of the moon have been known and recorded. In fact, the moon's orbit is not just synchronous with Earth; there is a literal one-half of the moon that has never been seen by the naked eye from earth in sunlight. Thus, B=C. That is indicative of a deeply synchronous orbit around Earth.

If Venus's orbit is synchronous with Earth, and the Moons orbit is Synchronous with the Earth, then the orbits of Venus and the Moon are also synchronous. If A=B, and B=C, then A=C, and the moon and Venus must have interacted in some important way during the cataclysm, and did so simultaneously leaving the 3 with synchronous orbits to this very day.

The Venus Apocalypse as Origin for the Eclipse

Thesis Fulcrum by Robert Burke - "Did the Sky Fall?"

(1) The Universe is Electric, and an apocalyptic event of an electrical nature left evidence in planetary orbits and surface features. (2) The event was captured in cultural mythology and legend globally. (3) The principle celestial bodies involved were Venus, the Earth, and the Moon.

PROOF

If A = B

&

If B = C

PROOF

| | | |
|---|--|--|
| A) Venus  95% the Size of Earth Primary Surface Feature Artemis Chasm Southern Hemisphere | B) Earth  "Twin" Sister of Venus Primary Surface Feature Himalayan Mountains Northern Hemisphere | C) Moon  Solo Satellite of Earth Primary Surface Feature Largest "Crater" in Solar Sys. Southern Pole |
| A = B  "This is rather astonishing because if the period (Earth-Venus Conjunction) is -244 days then it will present very nearly the same side to the Earth every conjunction." Carpenter J., 1966. Study of Venus by cw Radar - 1964 Results. Astronomical Journal, Vol. 71, p. 142. DOI: 10.1086/109872 | A=B / B = A Astronomy with MicroStation Orbit of Venus Dance of Planets Model Author: Ujjwal S. Ranes *Orbit of Earth is slowed by 3 hours out of 365 days, or by .034% Resulting Orbital Symmetry: 13:8     Rane's Start Burke's Start | B = C There is an entire side of the Moon that has never faced the earth in the daylight. The moon has a perfectly synchronous orbit with the Earth. The synchronous orbit is responsible for the eclipse cycle.  |
| Then A = C The Venus Apocalypse is the Reason Eclipses Occur Halloween, All Saints Day, Saturnalia, Winter Solstice, Christmas, Hanukkah, New Years, the Chinese New Year, Valentines Day, Easter | | |

2. Historical: The formation of the Moon & Venus must be within the time span of human memory as passed down from antiquity via legends and myths.¹

The Vikings from ancient Scandinavia developed their own mythology to explain natural phenomena such as thunder, frost, and the beginning of the world. These stories are rooted in the oral tradition of northern Europe and were first collected and written down in the 13th century. Norse mythology is the best-preserved version of the older common Germanic mythology, which also includes the closely related Anglo-Saxon mythology. Germanic mythology, in its turn, had evolved from an earlier Indo-European mythology.

Unlike mythology in other cultures, Norse myths tell about a cataclysmic 'end of the world'. After a battle between the giants, led by Loki and the gods and goddesses in Asgard, all are killed. The destruction of the world in this battle, called Ragnarök, is followed by the creation of a new, more peaceful world.

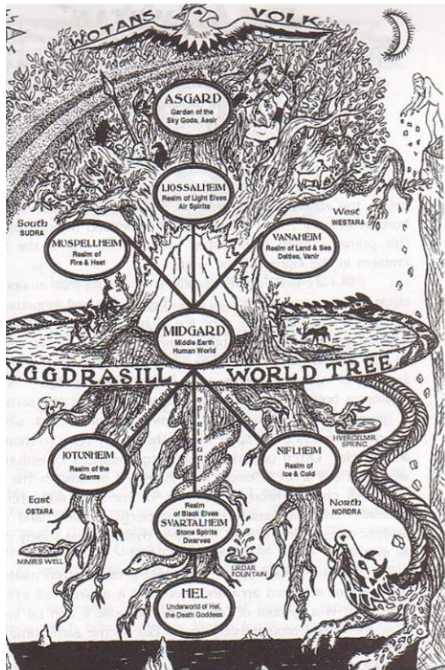

"ONCE there was another Sun and another Moon; a different Sun and a different Moon from the ones we see now. Sol was the name of that Sun and Mani was the name of that Moon. But always behind Sol and Mani wolves went; a wolf behind each. The wolves caught on them at last and they devoured Sol and Mani. And then the world was in darkness and cold.

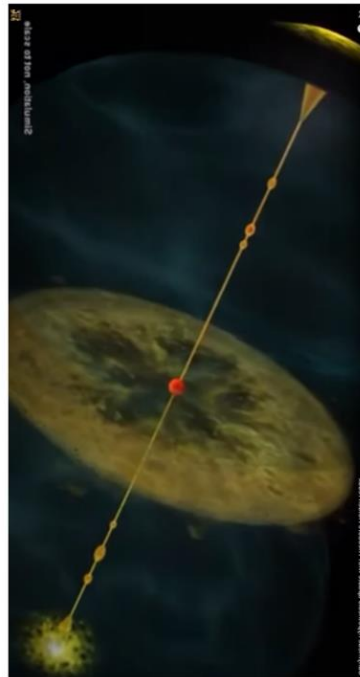

¹ Velikovsky, Immanuel. "The Earth without the Moon." www.varchive.org, www.varchive.org/itb/sansmoon.htm. Accessed 16 Mar. 2023. ¹⁰ Colum, Padraic. "The Children of Odin: Part I. The Dwellers in Asgard: 1. Far Away and Long Ago." www.sacred-Texts.com, 1920, www.sacred-texts.com/neu/ice/coo/c0002.htm.

...Then fire came and burnt the earth. There was darkness, for the Sun and the Moon were devoured. The Gods had met with their doom. And the time in which all these things happened was called Ragnarök, the Twilight of the Gods.”
Padraic Colum, ‘Children of Odin’, 1921

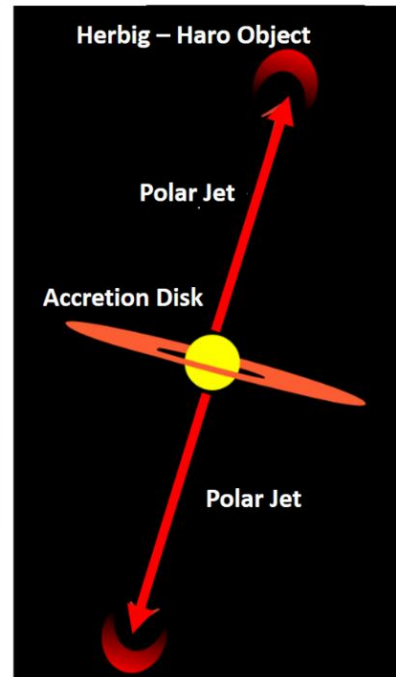

Antique Vertical Solar System

Yggdrasill World Ash Tree Supporting the Universe, Norse Mythology

Antique Solar System as a Herbig – Haro Object

Abstract Structure of a Herbig – Haro Object

Then a new Sun and a new Moon appeared and went traveling through the heavens; they were more lovely than Sol and Mani, and no wolves followed behind them in chase. The earth became green and beautiful again.
 (Padriac Colum, The Children of Odin, The Book of Northern Myths, 1920)

The Earth Without the Moon By Immanuel Velikovsky

The period when the Earth was Moonless is probably the most remote recollection of mankind. Democritus and Anaxagoras taught that there was a time when the Earth was without the Moon.⁽¹⁾ Aristotle wrote that Arcadia in Greece, before being inhabited by the Hellenes, had a population of Pelasgians, and that these aborigines occupied the land already before there was a moon in the sky above the Earth; for this reason they were called Proselenes.⁽²⁾

Apollonius of Rhodes mentioned the time “when not all the orbs were yet in the heavens, before the Danai and Deukalion races came into existence, and only the Arcadians lived, of whom it is said that they dwelt on mountains and fed on acorns, before there was a moon.”⁽³⁾

Plutarch wrote in The Roman Questions: “There were Arcadians of Evander’s following, the so-called pre-Lunar people.”⁽⁴⁾ Similarly wrote Ovid: “The Arcadians are said to have possessed their land before the birth of Jove, and the folk is older than the Moon.”⁽⁵⁾ Hippolytus refers to a legend that “Arcadia brought forth Pelasgus, of greater antiquity than the moon.”⁽⁶⁾ Lucian in his Astrology says that “the Arcadians affirm in their folly that they are older than the moon.”⁽⁷⁾

Censorinus also alludes to the time in the past when there was no moon in the sky.⁽⁸⁾ Some allusions to the time before there was a Moon may be found also in the Scriptures. In Job 25:5 the grandeur of the Lord who “Makes peace in the heights” is praised and the time is mentioned “before [there was] a moon and it did not shine.” Also in Psalm 72:5 it is said: “Thou wast feared since [the time of] the sun and before [the time of] the moon, a generation of generations.” A “generation of generations” means a very long time. Of course, it is of no use to counter this psalm with the myth of the first chapter of Genesis, a tale brought down from exotic and later sources.

The memory of a world without a moon lives in oral tradition among the Indians. The Indians of the Bogota highlands in the eastern Cordilleras of Colombia relate some of their tribal reminiscences to the time before there was a moon. "In the earliest times, when the moon was not yet in the heavens," say the tribesmen of Chibchas.⁽⁹⁾

There are currently three theories of the origin of the moon:

1) The Moon originated at the same time as the Earth, being formed substantially from the same material, aggregating and solidifying.

2) The Moon was formed not in the vicinity of the Earth, but in a different part of the solar system, and was later captured by the Earth.

3) The Moon was originally a portion of the terrestrial crust and was torn out, leaving behind the bed of the Pacific. [And the Ring of Fire]

All three theories claim the presence of the Moon on an orbit around the Earth for billions of years. Mythology may supply each of these views with some support (Genesis I for the first view; the birth of Aphrodite from the sea for the third view; Aphrodite's origin in the disruption of Uranus, and also the violence of Sin – the Babylonian Moon – seems to support the second view).

Since mankind on both sides of the Atlantic preserved the memory of a time when the Earth was without the Moon, the first hypothesis, namely, of the Moon originating simultaneously with the Earth and in its vicinity, is to be excluded, leaving the other two hypotheses to compete between themselves.

We have seen that the traditions of diverse peoples offer corroborative testimony to the effect that in a very early age, but still in the memory of mankind, no moon accompanied the Earth.⁽¹⁰⁾ Since human beings already peopled the Earth, it is improbable that the Moon sprang from it: there must have existed a solid lithosphere, not a liquid earth. Thus while I do not claim to know the origin of the Moon, I find it more probable that the Moon was captured by the Earth. Such an event would have occurred as a catastrophe.⁽¹¹⁾ If the Moon's formation took place away from the Earth,⁽¹²⁾ its composition may be quite different.

There is no evidence to suggest whether the Moon was a planet, a satellite of another planet, or a comet at the time of its capture by the Earth. Whatever atmosphere it may have had⁽¹³⁾ was pulled away by the Earth, by other contacting bodies, or dissipated in some other way.

Since the time the Moon began to accompany the Earth, it underwent the influence of contacts with comets and planets that passed near the Earth in subsequent ages. The mass of the Moon being less than that of the Earth, the Moon must have suffered greater disturbances in cosmic contacts. During these contacts the Moon was not carried away: this is due to the fact that no body more powerful than the Earth came sufficiently close to the Moon to take it away from the Earth for good; but in the contacts that took place the Moon was removed repeatedly from one orbit to another.

The variations in the position of the Moon can be read in the variations in the length of the month. The length of the month repeatedly changed in subsequent catastrophic events – and for this there exists a large amount of supporting evidence. In these later occurrences the Moon played a passive role, and Zeus in the Iliad advised it (Aphrodite) to stay out of the battle in which Athene and Ares (Venus and Mars) were the main contestants.

References

1. Hippolytus, Refutatio Omnium Haeresium V. ii.
2. Aristotle, fr. 591 (ed. V. Rose [Teubner:Tuebingen, 1886]). Cf. Pauly's Realencyclopaedie der classischen Altertumswissenschaft, article "Mond" ; H. Roscher, Lexicon d. griech. und roemisch. Mythologie, article "Proselenes."
3. Argonautica IV .264.
4. Plutarch, Moralia, transl. by F. C. Babbit, sect. 76.
5. Fasti, transl. by Sir J. Frazer, II. 290.
6. Refutatio Omnium Haeresium V. ii.
7. Lucian, Astrology, transl. by A. M. Harmon (1936), p. 367, par. 26.
8. Liber de die natali 19; also scholium on Aristophanes' Clouds, line 398.

9. A. von Humboldt, Vues des Cordillères (1816), English transl.: Researches Concerning the Institutions and Monuments of the Ancient Inhabitants of America, (1814), vol. I, p. 87; cf. H. Fischer, In mondener Welt (1930), p. 145.
10. [In addition to the sources cited above, cf. The Nihongi Chronicles of Japan (I.ii, in Transactions and Proceedings of the Japanese Society, vol. I [1896]) which recount how "Heaven and Earth . . . produced the Moon-god." The Kalevala of the Finns recalls a time "when the Moon was placed in orbit." (Rune 111.35)]
11. [Cf. the effects of such an event on the Earth's rotation calculated by H. Gerstenkorn in Zeitschrift fuer Astrophysik, 36 (1955), p. 245; cf. idem, in Mantles of the Earth and the Terrestrial Planets, S. K. Runcorn ed., (New York, 1967); also idem in Icarus 9 (1968), p. 394.]
12. [Cf. H. Alfvén and G. Arrhenius, "Two Alternatives for the History of the Moon," Science 165 (1969), 1 If.; S. F. Singer and L. W. Banderman, "Where was the Moon Formed?" Science 170 (1970), 438-439: "The moon was formed independently of the earth and later captured, presumably by a three-body interaction, and these events were followed by the dissipation of the excess energy through tidal friction in a close encounter." More recently, a study of lunar paleotides has shown that "the Moon could not have been formed in orbit around the Earth" (A. J. Anderson, "Lunar Paleotides and the Origin of the Earth-Moon System," The Moon and the Planets, 19 [1978], 409-417). Because of a certain degree of instability in the Sun-Earth-Moon system, "the planetary origin and capture of the Moon by the Earth becomes a strong dynamic possibility." (V. Szebehely and R. McKenzie, "Stability of the Sun-Earth-Moon System," The Astronomical Journal 82 (1977), 303ff.).
13. [Cf. Yu. B. Chernyak, "On Recent Lunar Atmosphere," Nature, 273 (15 June, 1978), pp. 497ff. The author found "strong theoretical evidence of a considerable atmosphere on the Moon during the greater part of its history."]

3. Physical: Moon Rock Turns Out to be Petrified Wood!

When Venus came close to the Earth and Earth responded by extruding part of its crust. Many trees likely were part of the extruded crust. Given the intense electrical and magnetic energies that generated the extrusion, such vegetation were fossilised or petrified in a very short time. The 'Moon Rock' found to be petrified wood, probably was in fact brought back from the Moon. However, the rock's actual origin was terrestrial – on Earth. Thus, confirming the hypothesis that the Moon was extruded crust from the Earth almost certainly from the Ring of Fire.

September 1, 2009, The Dutch national Rijksmuseum recently made an embarrassing announcement that one of its most loved possessions, a moon rock, is -- just an old piece of petrified wood. The rock was given as a private gift to former prime minister Willem Drees Jr in 1969 by the U.S. ambassador to The Netherlands, J. William Middendorf II, during a visit by the Apollo 11 astronauts, Armstrong, Collins and Aldrin, soon after the first moon landing. Drees had been out of office for 11 years, but was considered an elder statesman.

When Drees died in 1988, the rock was donated to the Rijksmuseum, where it has remained ever since. According to a museum spokeswoman, Ms Van Gelder, no one doubted the authenticity of the rock because it was in the prime minister's own collection, and they had vetted the acquisition by a phone call to NASA. Former U.S. ambassador, Mr Middendorf was unable to recall the exact details of how the rock came to be in the U.S. State Department's possession. It is known that NASA gave lunar rocks to over 100 countries in the 1970s, but when the rock was displayed in 2006 a space expert told the museum he doubted any material would have been given away so soon after the manned lunar landing.

Researchers from the Free University of Amsterdam immediately doubted the rock was from the moon, and began extensive testing. The tests concluded the rock was petrified wood. U.S. embassy officials were unable to explain the findings, but are investigating.

Even though the tests found the piece is not of lunar origin, the Rijksmuseum curators say they will keep it anyway as a curiosity. (2009 PhysOrg.com/ <https://phys.org/news/2009-09-moon-fake.html>)

Thundercrab! Is there a force besides quick burial in a deluge that could suddenly change things into stone, as it sometimes appears? The surprising answer in many cases, though not in all, to the preservation of flora and fauna (including huge dinosaurs and other megafauna) is an electrical catastrophe.

In her book, Fossil Legends of the First Americans, Adrienne Mayor has done invaluable research into the oral traditions of Indian tribes across the North America.

In legend after legend, lightning and thunderbolts killed and sometimes buried the gargantuan creatures to make life safer for the smaller creatures and the humans.

- “The Paiutes told Powell that the stone logs were the enormous shafts of arrows unleashed by the Wolf-Thunder god, Shinarav, or Shinarump, an important force in the Ute origin myth.” “But now, on dry land, predatory animals multiplied. With their powerful talons and teeth, these giant creatures devoured weaker human beings. So the Twin Heroes stalked across the world, blasting all the land monsters—enormous mountain lions and bears and other huge creatures—with lightning. ‘Thlu!’ Instantly immolated, these dangerous beasts were ‘shrivelled and burnt into stone.’”
- “As in the Zuni myth, the earlier, wet and muddy worlds were dominated by monsters, which were created before human beings and preyed on them. Some monsters even pursued people into successive worlds. But the Sun gave special lightning bolts to the twin sons of Changing Woman, so that they could overcome the monsters.”
- “Notably, [the Shawnee] information not only included fossil measurements and estimates of the animal’s size when they had been alive; it also attempted to account for the extinction of huge beasts and giant men in a distant era before modern humans. After the great men had died out, they said, ‘God had Kill’d’ the mighty animals with lightning bolts, so that they could ‘not hurt the present race of Indians.’”

The American Indian myths which speak of electrical disaster and fossilization are a surprising motif across widely separated geographic regions. It is said that as many as 2,000 Native tongues were being spoken at the time of the arrival of the first European settlers, so it may be well to take note of any agreement between the myths, considering the language barriers between Indian tribes.

Mayor’s book preserves many legends which are in danger of being lost forever. In her work of combining palaeontology and folklore, she acknowledges her deep indebtedness to the French naturalist Georges Cuvier (1769-1832). “As he was forging the new discipline of palaeontology,” she notes, “Cuvier was also gathering the world’s fossil legends from classical antiquity and the New World. This evidence helped him devise the theory of global extinctions.”

The concept of global extinctions, like much of Cuvier’s contributions to the discipline of palaeontology, proved to be foundational, since without extinctions fossils cannot be used to construct a geological column and a directional history. Although Cuvier was later largely marginalized for his catastrophism and disagreement with Darwinism, Stephen Jay Gould remarks, “As for Cuvier’s catastrophism in geology, Lyell may have banished such a view to temporary periphery of derision, but it has come back in spades through such exciting (and probably correct) ideas as the extraterrestrial impact theory of mass extinction.” These Native American legends which Cuvier was careful to take into account, as well as other worldwide myths, bear a consistent witness to lightning and thunderbolts, as well as other electrical phenomena in their interpretation of fossils.

In what may be an incredible instance of myths anticipating the latest scientific discoveries, and cutting-edge scientific developments illuminating legends of antiquity, important advances in astronomy are revealing the primacy and centrality of electrical forces in the Universe. Pioneers in the fields of plasma physics and the Electric Universe have made revolutionary discoveries using the most up-to-date instrumentation and measurements from the sky, demonstrating that it is electric currents which are responsible for powering the sun, ordering the solar system, and forming the slowly turning pinwheel galaxies.

Electric Fossils and Thundercrabs

Peter Mungo Jupp October 7, 2023 - 12:01 am Picture of the Day

Most important to our discussion of geology, the surprising and unexpected features found on the surfaces of all of the rocky moons and planets within our solar system are explained by electrical processes such as electrical discharge machining, electrostatic painting, Lichtenburg scarring, and other large scale electrical arc excavation and deposition processes. These processes are not only familiar to plasma physicists such as C.J. Ransom, in an Electric Universe they also provide a possible new direction of inquiry for our understanding of earth's major topological features.

The slow and steady uniformitarian principles need not constrain our study of the paleontological record to just a few tools of volcanic activity, wind erosion, water deposition, and the occasional asteroid impact. So in light of the most recent scientific and technological discoveries, and in the grand tradition of palaeontology's founder Georges Cuvier, who invited native legends and myths to inform our understanding of earth history, we can begin to ask whether there is much we do not know about the extinction and fossilization of the mega fauna and dinosaurs.

One possibility is that fossilization is in fact instantaneous. Under conditions of powerful electrical discharge one element (such as carbon) might be transmuted into another (such as silicon). Low temperature electrical transmutation has been observed in the lab, though it has been kept fairly quiet and out of public view. As for the stratigraphic layers in which fossils are found, might it be possible that these were laid down more quickly, in a kind of electrical sputtering effect used in modern nanotechnology applications?

Finally, physicist Wal Thornhill noted in an interview regarding carbon dating: “I think the problem with radioactive dating is that it assumes the uniformitarian model that radioactive elements were created at some stage in the early formation of the solar system, and since then it's been a slow process of disintegration. Under the electrical theory, elements are being formed all the time in these discharges and, when you have interplanetary discharges, transmutation of elements is occurring and radioisotopes are being created.”

It may be that conventional theories of fossilization will be found wanting and new hypotheses will be suggested. Myths point in the direction of the suddenness of preservation by massive electrical discharge, in a (geologically speaking) recent turn of events in our solar system.

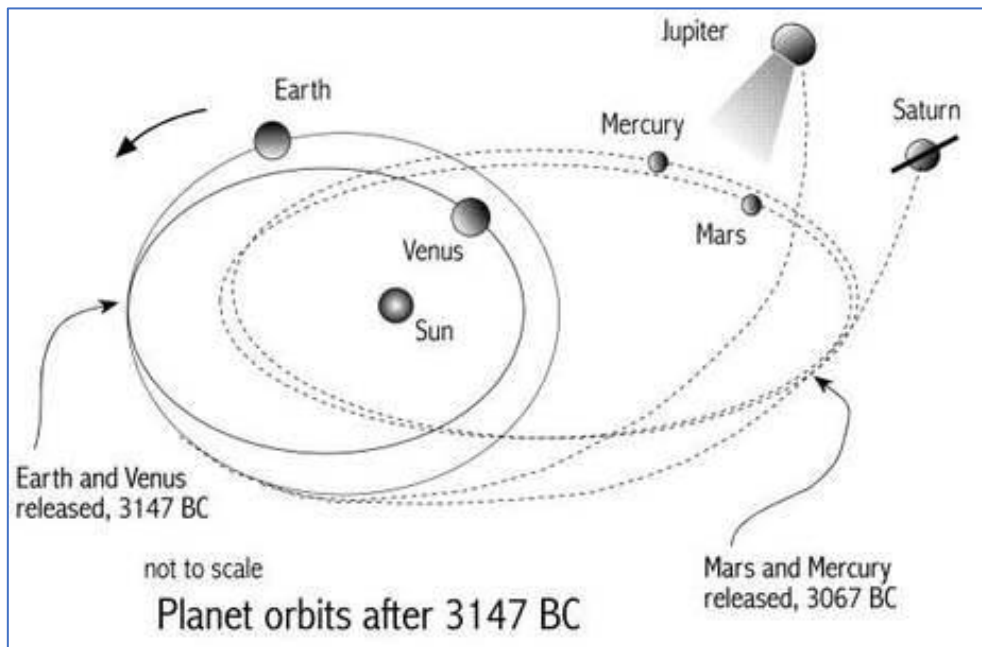

(<https://www.thunderbolts.info/wp/2023/10/07/electric-fossils-and-thundercrabs-3/>)

Electric Fossils and Thundercrabs “Could fossilization be a rapid process?”

Polar Configuration Breakup –2nd Flood of Noah circa 6,000 years ago, (4,000 – 3,100 BC)

Wallace Thornhill continues his analysis:

- “Sometime around 3100 BC our primordial sun Proto-Saturn [lit up] followed by the seven days of light recorded in Genesis. Shortly thereafter, water from Proto-Saturn flooded the entire world in what is generally referred to as the Biblical Deluge. These were not one-off events. Our solar system routinely reconfigures itself.”

The Polar Configuration becomes unstable. As the Southern planets below Saturn (Venus, Mars & Earth) catch up to the Sun's horizontally rotating Heliosphere, they become captured by the intense horizontal magnetic rotation. This transition from vertical to horizontal orbits ends approximately 3,147 BC, according to researcher Jno Cook. (Jno Cook, Recovering the Lost World; mythsarehistory.com)

The 'Gods' [Angelic Hierarchies] warned humanity they would depart & Advised peoples to 'Await the Return of the Gods'

A pagan today, who examined the legends and myths handed down from antiquity, would see these patterns. For centuries prior to the breakup of the Polar Configuration, angelic hierarchies warned the tribes, communicating several major prophecies:

- 1) The gods will depart (meaning both the planets & angelic hierarchies)
- 2) There will be a period of spiritual darkness that will necessitate a long trial of faith.
- 3) A god will incarnate on Earth during this time of darkness.
- 4) Eventually the 'gods will return'; at the end of the spiritually dark age of faith.

Circa 6,000 years ago (circa 4,000 BC), the Polar Configuration breaks up – Spiritual sight ceases entirely. Memories of the old 'era of the gods' and the prophecies of the 'return of the gods' are passed on to younger generations via fairy tales & myths. Tribes descended into spiritual darkness awaiting the 'return of the gods'. Tribal / collective identity is slowly extinguished. Individual "I am" ego identity / consciousness slowly emerges as humans solely receive input from the 5 physical senses. Since, clairvoyance (spiritual sight) has ended; the good angelic hierarchies have limited success in influencing good human behaviour. The fallen hierarchies have greater influence inducing evil behaviour by exploiting spiritual blindness & temptations of the flesh. Ancient people cannot spiritually perceive the difference between truth and lies. As a result, evil hierarchies assume dominance by exploiting the three-fold concupiscence: lust for flesh, power, and money.

Two millennia pass and the long awaited 'god' descends from heaven and incarnates as Jesus of Nazareth, the true Son of God, via Tribe of Judah. Jesus is crucified on the cross: reuniting in Himself the broken vertical and the horizontal streams in man. The First Pentecost restores clairvoyant contact (spiritual sight) with the vertical spiritual world to a small hierarchical group: the nascent Catholic priesthood!

The long awaited ‘gods’ have returned: they are Catholic Priests! These hierarchically arranged ‘gods’ (Catholic Priests) with regained spiritual sight (vertical consciousness) are tasked to travel throughout the world to prepare all of humanity for the complete ‘return of the gods’ also known as ‘Second Coming of Christ’. A ‘Second Pentecost’ will reconnect humans’ horizontal material consciousness with vertical spiritual consciousness. The ‘gods’ / angelic hierarchies & Christ will ‘return’ to everyone because the Second Pentecost restores humanity’s ability to perceive and communicate with spiritual beings: angelic hierarchies & Christ.

Loss of Spiritual Sight: Restarts Calendars & Causes Development of Individual ‘I am’ - Ego Consciousness

As the Polar Configuration ended circa 4,000 - 3,000 BC, planets moved into their current orbits, a great flood occurred, and humanity completely lost its spiritual sight or vertical consciousness and shifted into a materialistic horizontal consciousness where perception solely occurs via the physical senses. Over the next millennia, this change in perception results in the loss of tribal consciousness. The change in consciousness manifests via creation of new calendars, advent of writing, the development of introspection and an ego consciousness that express itself in the words “I am”.

Black Sea Flood Confused with Great Flood. The breakup of the Polar Configuration and the change in consciousness appears to roughly coincide with the catastrophic flooding of the Black Sea estimated circa 5,600 BC. The estimated time of the Black Sea flood event is not precise and occurs around the time of the catastrophic breakup of the Polar Configuration circa 4,000 BC. As a result, the legend of the destructive Black Sea flood is confused with the much earlier and larger Younger Dryas catastrophe of circa 10,900 BC – 9,500 BC. Wallace Thornhill postulates excess water came from the Brown Dwarf Proto-Saturn and fell on the Earth. Current scientific data indicates Saturn’s rings are made of water ice.

New Calendars Mark ‘Creation’.

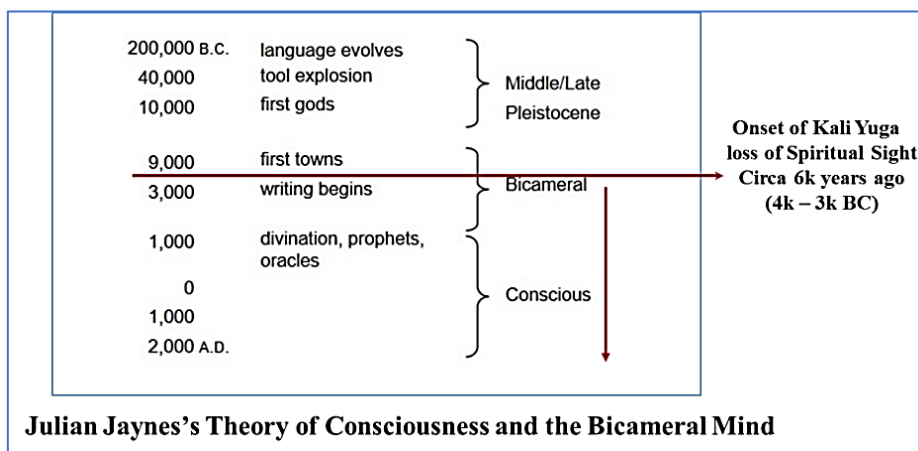

According to the Hebrew calendar that governs the passage of time among the Jewish people, we are currently in the Year 5781 [2021], that is - the supposed 5781st year since the world was created in 3761 BC which the 12th-century Jewish philosopher Maimonides established as the biblical Date of Creation. The Mayan Long

Count calendar calculated the beginning of a new creation at 3114 BC. In the Hindu system, 3100 BC, is the beginning of a “dark age”, the Kali Yuga, the Age of Inversion, when evil is called good and good is called evil. Some sources indicate Kali Yuga lasted 5,000 years, ending around 1900AD.

Beginning of Written Language. Scholars now recognize that writing may have independently developed in at least four ancient civilizations: Mesopotamia (circa 3400 - 3100 BC), Egypt (circa 3250 BC), China (1200 BC), and Southern Mexico and Guatemala (circa 500 BC).

Loss of Spiritual Sight & Development of Individual Ego Consciousness – ‘I am’

In January of 1977 Princeton University psychologist Julian Jaynes (1920–1997) put forth a new theory of the origin of consciousness and described a previous mentality called the ‘bicameral mind’ in his controversial book “The Origin of Consciousness in the Breakdown of the Bicameral Mind”.

Jaynes asserts that consciousness did not arise far back in human evolution but is a learned process based on metaphorical language. Prior to the development of consciousness, Jaynes argues humans operated under a previous mentality he called the bicameral (‘two-chambered’) mind.

In the place of an internal dialogue, bicameral people experienced auditory hallucinations directing their actions, similar to the command hallucinations experienced by many people who hear voices today. Jaynes postulated that these hallucinations were interpreted or portrayed by ancient people as the voices of chiefs, rulers, or the gods. Jaynes postulates the ‘right-brain’ voices appear to be speaking, and the ‘left-brain’ listens and obeys.

Jaynes apparently makes the same Fundamental Attribution Error that is common today among those people who doubt the mystical experiences of others. Ancient peoples honestly described as ‘instructions from the gods’ their communications with spiritual beings external to themselves—the angelic hierarchies. [later described by St. Dionysius the Areopagite in “The Celestial Hierarchy”] These beings instructed them to build megalithic cities that mirrored on Earth the heavens above in the cosmos. Thus, ancient megalithic structures were oriented toward the Earth’s axis of rotation and other stellar constellations.

Nevertheless, Jaynes does not recognise the ancients have actual spiritual sight, ignores their accurate descriptions, architectural achievements and describes the communications as “hallucinations”, originating from an underdeveloped “right-brain.” Jaynes asserts that, in Homer’s Iliad (circa 800 BC) and sections of the Old Testament, no mention is made of any kind of cognitive processes such as introspection, and Jaynes argues that there is no apparent indication that the writers were self-aware. According to Jaynes, the older portions of the Old Testament (such as the Book of Amos) have little or none of the features of some later books of the Old Testament (such as Ecclesiastes) as well as later works such as Homer's Odyssey (circa 675–725 BC), which show indications of a profoundly different kind of mentality—an early form of consciousness, which I have called horizontal materialistic consciousness, which is also called abstract thinking.

However, Moses' encounter with God in the burning bush (circa 1450–1475 BC) where God identifies Himself as “I Am Who Am” or “I Am the I Am” appears to be the first expression of individual ego consciousness capable of being understood by man after the loss of tribal consciousness. Moreover, Moses appears to possess both his individual sense of ego identity, abstract thinking and has his spiritual sight given back because he later receives the 10 Commandments from God. Exodus 34:29: The early Hebrew did not have a word for “rays of light” so St. Jerome instead rendered it as ‘horn’ for its similar shape. Translating directly into Latin, however, St Jerome used a literal translation, and Moses came back down the mountain with 10 commandments and two prominent horns (circa 1440 - 1415 BC).

Return of Vertical Spiritual Sight

Spiritual Sight Restored: Moses' ‘Horns’ & Apostles ‘Tongues of Fire’. Strikingly similar are the images of Moses' horns of light and the tongues of fire the Apostles received at the First Pentecost.

Old Clairvoyance Sacrificed to Develop the ‘I am’: By losing the sense of unity provided by collective tribal consciousness, which fading clairvoyance could no longer sustain, humanity gained individual ego consciousness: the “I am” – A name that no one can call another. Individuals developed abstract thinking and an individual will separate, unique and distinct from everyone else.

Individual Human Will must be Sacrificed to unite with Divine Will in New Clairvoyance. However, to regain the unity provided by clairvoyance, individuals must freely unite their human will and voluntarily embrace Christ's Divine Will, which will be available to everyone at the second Pentecost. Thus, collective identity is restored as the soul of each individual person becomes a ‘bride of Christ’. Matthew 12:48-50 He (Jesus) replied to him, “Who is my mother, and who are my brothers?” 49 Pointing to his disciples, he said, “Here are my mother and my brothers. For whoever does the will of my Father in heaven is my brother and sister and mother.”

How did Angelic Hierarchies Communicate with Humans?

Humanity's first language was ‘the language of the birds’, which was a metaphor describing thoughts flying from one mind to another mind. Today, we call this telepathy for communicating among humans or clairvoyance for human to angelic communications.

Angels reside in the spiritual world beyond our 3-dimensional reality. So how did angels communicate clairvoyantly with humans? Humans had to have an ‘antenna’ to receive these spiritual impulses. Additionally, humans had to have the capacity to translate spiritual impulses from the angels into concepts and words meaningful to beings in a physical, 3-dimensional world.

Jaynes hints at the mechanism whereby this process occurs. The human right side of the brain is the antenna receiving vertical spiritual impulses and clairvoyant communications from the angelic realms. The spiritual impulses pull the closest concepts and words from the human left side of the brain, which governs life on the horizontal, materialistic 3-dimensional world. Note: The serpent crawls on the horizontal plane. Thus, the ‘fall’ describes the change or loss of vertical spiritual consciousness focused on God to horizontal consciousness focused on the 3-dimensional world inhabited by our fleshly bodies.

Christ Restores the Severed Connection between

Vertical Spiritual World & Horizontal Material World

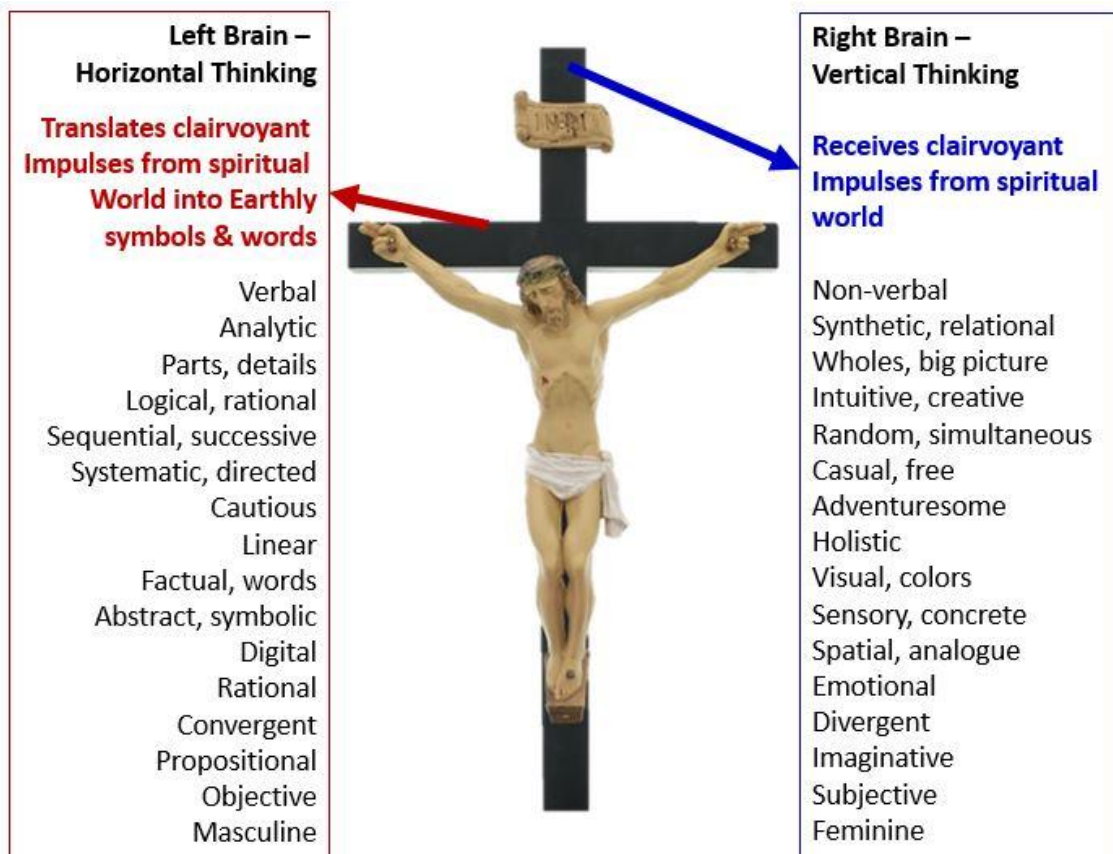

In the Temple, the Ark of the Covenant resided behind the thick curtain: the veil symbolically separated the spiritual world from the material world. When Christ died on the cross, the veil in the temple was torn in half from top to bottom and unveiled the holy of holies, revealing what had been hidden behind the veil. Symbolically, the rending of the veil makes conscious to the left (material) side of the brain what was previously unconscious and kept hidden in the right (spiritual) side of the brain.

Remember that on the cross, Christ said, “Forgive them Father because they know not what they do.”

1. To the majority of people present (materialistic, left-brain, horizontally thinking humans) Christ was a ‘bad guy’ who was executed because he deserved to be put to death. They could not perceive the spiritual truth behind the events they were participating in.
2. To those with spiritual sight (spiritual, right-brain, vertically thinking humans) Christ was the Messiah, the Son of God who was unjustly murdered to expiate for our sins and satisfy Divine Justice. These people could perceive the sad, tragic truth.

These are two completely different viewpoints and interpretations of the Mystery of Golgotha. We know that when Christ died the veil separating the spiritual world from the material world as torn in two, unveiling what was hidden. Later, at Pentecost the Holy Spirit descended into the Apostles, Disciples and others. This unveiling of what was hidden was clearly manifested because when the Apostles spoke Aramaic and described the truth about Christ, each listener understood the meaning in their own native language. Thus, the Apostles clearly were speaking spiritual truth into the right side of the brain of these listeners, and these spiritual impulses pulled the correct terms and meanings out of the left side of the brain where such horizontal thoughts are stored.

Pentecost proves the ‘gods’ had returned. The Apostles, like the Angelic Hierarchies, are a spiritual hierarchy that guides humanity back to God the Creator. The Apostles, like the Angels, communicated direct spiritual truths to humans in the ‘original language of the birds’.

Christ is the Vertical Channel to God the Father

Blessed Mother is the Horizontal Channel to Jesus the Son

Jesus answered, "I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me." John 14:6. Jesus is the Divine God-Man who descended from heaven to become fully human and returned to heaven, rending the veil separating heaven and Earth opening the pathway of return. Christ is the only vertical channel to the Father. Jesus is the vertical beam of the cross.

Christ came down to humanity via the Blessed Mother. Mary was completely human and was raised up to be the Daughter of the Father, Mother of the Son, and Spouse of the Holy Spirit. Blessed Mother is the Queen of Heaven and Earth. Blessed Mother brings souls to her Divine Son, who leads them to the Father. The Blessed Mother being completely human represents the horizontal arm of the cross. Nonetheless, Blessed Mother was sinless so the spiritual world was never veiled to her. Because Christ incarnated through Mary and Mary suffered with Christ on the cross and his death the vertical and horizontal streams in humanity were reunited.

The Second Coming of Christ STARTS via a Second Global Pentecost in which all that was hidden will be revealed as in Luke 8:17. The Second Coming is complete after Last Judgment during the Three Days of Darkness. Then Christ the King Reigns over the Kingdom of Divine Will in Human Hearts: The Triumph of the Immaculate Heart.

Through you, I will remind them, how I died for you.

Finally, on Easter Sunday 2021, Jesus called my attention to the crucifix. Jesus says, "Through you, I will remind them, how I died for you." Next Jesus loudly said one word, "ECHO!" Jesus' use of pronouns was deliberate. This statement can apply to many, many people, especially priests:

So Be Jesus' ECHO, so it can be said of the SSPX; "Through you, I will remind them, how I died for you." Jesus died on the cross at Golgotha, which is recapitulated in the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, where Our Blessed Mother stood at the foot of the Cross. Our Lady is still standing there comforting Her Divine Son. Help her to gather souls for Christ and bring them to the foot of the cross.

KEEP THE FAITH - REMAIN AT THE ALTAR – DEFEND THE EUCHARIST

-Apprentice to St. Joseph-